BEDECKED, EXCITED CITY WELCOMES PRINCESS TODAY

Wearing sleeveless, short-skirted summer dress of coral pink nylon, with cherry red straw bonnet, smiling Princess Margaret walks towards her B.C.-bound plane at London Airport yesterday. Princess was accompanied to airport by Queen Mother Elizabeth.—(AP Photofax.)

Soft Landing Let Her Sleep

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (CP)—Princess Margaret was asleep today when she landed in Canada for the first time, veteran airline captain James Percy said.

Capt. Percy brought down the big turbo-prop airliner carrying the princess so gently that she wasn't disturbed.

She remained aboard the Bristol Britannia plane during the refueling stopver at this remote air base.

Captain Percy said the entire flight from London was smooth, and the weather pleasant.

"The princess relaxed, and had supper and finally went to bed," Capt. Percy said.

ON INSTRUMENTS

"There was a little rain at Goose and we made an instrument approach, but the weather was nowhere near limits. I expect we will make Vancouver on time, or a little ahead."

He said the princess hadn't come forward during the overseas flight to take the controls, as distinguished passengers sometimes are allowed to.

"Maybe she will a little later."

'ORDINARY JOB'

It was Capt. Percy's first flight with royalty aboard. How did he feel about the added responsibility

"Oh, it was much of an ordinary job of work," he said.

Despite the light drizzle, a "considerable little crowd" turned out to greet the princess' plane, the pilot said.

The aircraft was to fly a "great circle" route from Goose Bay to Winnipeg, going over northern Ontario.

Communism 'Sold Out' For U.S. Alms

BERLIN (UPI) — Nikita S. Khrushchev charged yesterday that Yugoslavia had sold out international communism for American "alms." He said Yugoslavs had lost the right to be called Marxists.

The Soviet premier served public notice that the Kremlin was the boss and would crush any attempt by communist parties to break away from its control.

He coupled his denunciation of Yugoslavia with the boast that Russia soon would match the recession-plagued American economy.

'No Embarrassment'

Royal Visit Postpones Ferry Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — The government-controlled Black Ball Ferries will not be tied up by a strike while Princess Margaret is on Vancouver Island.

Richard Greaves, president of the National Association of Marine Engineers, said Friday: "The members don't want to cause any inconvenience or embarrassment while the Princess is on the Island.

"Once she has left, however, they intend to assert their right to strike—the right taken away from them by Premier Bennett when he took over the line under Civil Defence Act regulations."

EAGER TO STRIKE

Officials of the union had said earlier that a large number of engineers employed on the ferries which ply between the Island and the B.C. mainland, were anxious to strike immediately for higher pay. Margaret will be on the Island four days until next Wednesday.

If the strike takes place the only remaining link between the Island and the mainland will be with Washington State.

B.C. TOOK OVER

The provincial government took control of the ferry service June 24 under the Civil Defence Act in face of a strike which would have severed Vancouver Island's last sea link with the mainland.

Richard Greaves, national president of the union, said Thursday individual members of the union are planning to defy the government by walking off the job and facing a possible fine or jail sentence under the Civil Defence Act.

Hotel Emptied For Royalty

The Empress Hotel was practically emptied last night in preparation for Princess Margaret's arrival.

Only permanent guests were allowed to remain and no reservations were accepted after 4 p.m. yesterday. Nine boys and 22 girls in a New York tour party, who had made reservations 18 months ago, were allowed to stay, but will be leaving at 5 p.m. today. Taxi drivers said business had fallen off "something terrible."

Crowds Expected All Along Route

Victoria, gaily decked out and full of excitement, is all ready this morning to welcome Princess Margaret.

The Princess and her party are due to arrive at Patricia Bay airport in a special RCAF transport plane at 10 a.m. After being welcomed there, on behalf of Canada and British Columbia, the Princess will ride to the Empress Hotel, arriving at the main entrance at 10.45.

MAY TAKE DRIVE

Whether or not Victorians will have another chance to see Princess Margaret during the day is not definitely known, because the rest of her day is scheduled as free. But it is possible the Princess may wish to take an unscheduled drive in the afternoon.

At the airport, Her Royal Highness will be welcomed by Defence Minister George Pearkes and Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

INTRODUCTIONS

The defence minister will present Mrs. Pearkes, and the lieutenant-governor will present Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Bennett, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Mrs. Williston, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan and Mrs. Kiernan, Mayor Percy Scurrah and Mrs. Scurrah, Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner and Mrs. Rayner, Air Commodore A. D. Ross and Mrs. Ross, Brig. J. W. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, and Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the RCMP and Mrs. Harvison.

STAY AWAY

The royal party is scheduled to leave the airport at 10.10 a.m. after the princess receives a royal salute and inspects a Royal Canadian Navy guard of honor.

The public has been urged not to go to Patricia Bay Airport to try to see Princess Margaret. Officials in charge of arrangements fear a traffic jam would result.

ROYAL ROUTE

The Royal motorcade will travel by way of the Patricia Bay Highway, Douglas, Belleville and Government to the main entrance of the Empress Hotel. Crowds are expected all along the way.

Final preparations for the arrival of the Princess were completed and checked and rechecked last night by thousands of Victorians and visitors concerned.

STREETS GAY

The city, and particularly Douglas Street, were gay with flags and pennants, including 35 strings newly put in place near City Hall.

Above the Causeway, illuminated letters three feet high spell out, "British Columbia's Capital Welcomes Princess Margaret."

TV Covers Arrival

Arrival of Princess Margaret at Patricia Bay Airport and at the Empress Hotel will be telecast on channels 2, 5, 6 and 12 at 9.45 a.m. today and broadcast at the same time over all B.C. radio stations.

Hatred Boils Over

Cyprus Heads For War

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Cyprus Friday night was on the verge of an all-out civil war between Greeks and Turks.

Eight violent killings in the last 24 hours brought hatred between the two races to the breaking point. Fifty Cypriots have died since inter-racial violence erupted five weeks ago.

Greeks and Turks are hopelessly divided over the future of the British colony. Greeks want union with Greece and Turks partition of the Mediterranean island.

British troops moved in to break up a clash between Greeks and Turks in Limassol Friday after a Turkish policeman was shot to death in front of a post office. Thousands of Greeks attended funerals for six of their people killed Thursday.

Among Thursday's victims were the 44-year-old mother superior of a Greek convent and a 29-year-old monk. They were shot by a band of gunmen.

Tuna Venture Up to Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A huge school of tuna, a warm water fish, was sighted in the usually-frigid Gulf of Alaska 80 miles southwest of Yakutat Bay Friday.

Howard Baltzo, acting regional director of the U.S. bureau of commercial fisheries here, said it was "very, very rare." The tuna were Albacore, the highest grade.

PAUL ROBESON . . . rights regained

Robeson Given Hero's Welcome

LONDON (AP)—U.S. singer Paul Robeson got a hero's welcome in Britain yesterday on his first visit out of the United States after eight years without an American passport.

The 60-year-old negro was greeted by a cheering mob of diplomats, stage folk, artistic types and just ordinary people upon his arrival at London airport with his wife.

GREAT EVENT

"This is a great international event," he was told by Viscount Stansgate, 81-year-old laborite peer.

Robeson, spruce in a speckled gray suit and gleaming white tie, entertained newsmen and well-wishers with snatches of "Water Boy," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Over the Mountains" as television and film cameras rolled in a floodlighted reception room.

REFUSED TO SIGN

Robeson had been unable to leave the United States since the government withdrew his passport in 1950 because he declined to sign a non-Communist affidavit required by the state department. This requirement was knocked out by a recent Supreme Court decision.

"A wonderful thing has happened," Robeson told the newsmen. "I have won the struggle in my own country to regain my rights."

NO REGRETS

"Do you regret any of your past actions?" a reporter asked.

"I did what I thought was right," Robeson replied.

"What happened was unfortunate but it is all a past chapter now."

He said it was "great to be back in England, and I hope to come back many more times."

"Do you plan to stay in England?" he was asked.

"I don't know what you mean by staying," the singer said. "I'm an American."

"Do you intend to go back?"

"I certainly do."

'Bad' Girl, 3, Strapped To Death

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI)—A three-year-old girl died of a brain hemorrhage Friday in the home of her state-appointed guardians, who admitted having beaten her with a strap for her "bad temper."

The dead child, Ellen Graham, had been boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Victor Corbo since 1956 when she was taken from her parents because of "neglect."

Ellen's three brothers and a sister, also living there, were found suffering from malnutrition by the interne, who pronounced little Ellen dead in her crib. Her body was "completely covered with bruises."

Floods in Kansas

Three Left Dead By Water Wall

ATCHISON, Kan. (UPI) — A wall of water five feet high roared down Atchison's main street yesterday in a weather onslaught which left three persons dead and thousands of dollars damage in eastern Kansas.

Two more persons were killed by lightning along a storm front stretching from Kansas to New England, bringing the weather death toll to five. In addition, a man was missing at Atchison and presumed dead.

A man and women drowned in Atchison when the flash flood, fed by a 516-inch cloudburst, swept through the city of 16,000.

At Topeka, Kan., flood waters swept a 12-year-old girl from her father's grasp and to her death.

Other storms, powered by hurricane-force winds up to 98 miles per hour and packing seven-inch rains, hit the Kansas cities and towns of Emporia, Chanute, Baldwin, Lawrence and Marysville. Eastern Kansas and parts of Western Missouri were littered by hundreds of downed power lines and fallen trees.

Weather forecasters said the storms might return. Tornado warnings were put out in eastern Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

A tornado skipped through farm country near the southern Illinois hamlet of West Salem, destroying two homes and blowing a farm wife into her backyard.

At the height of the Atchison storm, giant avalanches of water rolled down normally dry gullies between the city's hilly streets.

The American Red Cross counted six houses destroyed, 43 businesses damaged, and 34 homes damaged. Every business in a 14-square block area suffered some damage.

Firemen rescued 35 to 50 persons from car tops, roof tops and second-storey windows,

Posse Flushes New Mexico Recluse

He Killed Pair to Help 'Depopulate the World'

REGINA, N.M. (AP) — A bearded recluse, once released as cured from a mental institution, told his captors Friday he killed two children "to help depopulate an overcrowded world."

The world of egg-bald Norman A. Foose was not a crowded one.

For six months he had lurked in the mountain fastnesses of northern New Mexico. He sought uranium. He talked to no one.

At dawn Friday, a New Mexico state police squad slipped through the brush and shouted for the 47-year-old former mental patient to give up. Behind them waited a posse of more than 100 angry men.

Foose the day before had without warnig shot and killed a boy and girl on the streets of Cuba, N.M. His weapon was a high-powered .30-06 deer rifle.

The dead girl's mother was wounded slightly by the slug that killed her daughter.

Tracked to his lonely mountain camp, Foose put another expanding bullet through the shoulder of ranch foreman Sam Hill.

"I told him to come out and throw down his gun," state police Sgt. Milton Matteson, leader of the six-man squad, said. "He came out in the road with his hands up, but with the rifle still with him."

When a warning shot and another verbal warning failed to make Foose drop his gun, a state police bullet shattered his right foot.

30-Year Delayed Reaction

Cancer Time Bomb Cited

Substance Swallowed For X-Rays Years Ago

LONDON (AP)—A cruel cancer time bomb is beginning to claim some human victims.

The bomb is radioactive medication containing thorium, which was given 30 or so years ago to thousands of people in many countries. Doctors didn't know then that such radioactive stuff could be dangerous.

Now some of those patients are developing cancers which are blamed directly on thorium.

The latest chapters in the thorium story were reported today to the Seventh International Cancer Congress.

The story began innocently enough in the late 1920s, when an injection named thorotrast, containing thorium, a heavy metal which collected in the liver and spleen, was used to obtain a clear picture on X-ray film.

The thorium happened to be radioactive, but no one worried about that then.

Then, in the 1930s, Danish doctors began to notice that patients given thorotrast treatments seemed more susceptible to cancers.

Now medical reports tell of persons in different countries who developed a rare type of liver cancer blamed on thorium.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

CARS and airplanes are governed by strict laws. But motorboats are allowed to run almost anywhere and anyhow their owners please.

In some waters, speedboats have already become a dangerous nuisance. Feather-headed yokels at the wheel have struck swimmers, severed fishing lines, nearly swamped tiny children wading near the shore and driven waterfront dwellers out of their wits by roaring around in circles just off shore, for hours on end.

Some of them run their motorboats at night when they do not have the smallest chance of seeing a swimmer's head in the water.

* * *

People who complain to the police about offences by speedboat drivers are most often treated as cranks, or simply ignored. If the police do condescend to answer such calls, they turn up several hours later, by which time the water maniacs are back at home asleep.

When people in my locality demand action, police always reply that the complainants will have to get the licence numbers of the boats and lay charges themselves.

But the boats don't always have licence numbers, and when they do, the numbers are so small that they can only be read from close quarters. Nobody could make out the licence number of a boat screaming past at 40 miles an hour, and the police know it.

When the police tell private citizens to write down the licence numbers of the offending boats and lay charges—in other words, to do the work of the police for them—they are talking humbug.

The police are not to blame. A few of them, for reasons of their own, may be reluctant to lay charges against speedboat men. Most policemen would be pleased to enforce the law against motorboat pests, if they had means to do it. But there just are not enough policemen to patrol the water.

So when police get complaints, they alibi their way out of attending them.

* * *

Cars and airplanes are governed by strict laws. Airplanes are forbidden to fly low over cities. Cars must observe speed limits. They may not drive around playing fields, parks or horse-racing tracks, but are expected to stay on the roads. Drivers and pilots must pass tests.

But motorboats may be driven anywhere by anyone who has the strength to climb into the driver's seat. At a pinch you don't even need the strength. People who are too drunk to get into a boat by themselves can always find a couple of friends to hoist them in.

There is nothing to stop small power boats from being driven by drunks, children or imbeciles. And judging by the way that some boats behave, all three classes are well represented on the water.

A small lake with a number of houses around it is very much the same as a public park or playing field. One is water, the other land. The authorities would never allow racing cars to roar around and round the public playing field at all hours of day or night, running down children who were trying to play baseball or marbles, raising a dust that covered the washing, and making a noise that gave headaches to everyone who lived within a mile of the field.

Yet they freely allow motorboat men and water skiers to scream round and round a settled lake, making just as much nuisance of themselves as racing car drivers would be in a park.

* * *

Surely it would be reasonable to ask motorboat people to stay within certain limits, just as car drivers must do.

On big lakes—such as Cowichan—they could be allotted sizeable areas of their own, to use whenever they liked.

On middle-sized lakes—such as Shawnigan—they could be allotted moderate areas which they could use two or three days a week.

As for small settled lakes, such as Prospect and Langford, power boats should be ruled off them altogether, just as racing cars are ruled off parks and playgrounds. Speedboats should also be barred from lakes that are wildlife sanctuaries.

The Federal government, which at present has jurisdiction over navigable waters, should pass a motorboat code which is just as strict as the provincial vehicle code. Some of its features should be:

Thorough examinations for all motorboat drivers. No drunks, halfwits or persons under 16 allowed to drive a motorboat, on pain of a heavy fine. Licence numbers to be printed on the side of boats in letters two feet high, as letters are printed on aircraft wings.

A licence fee of $2 a year on all motorboat drivers, and from $5 to $20 a year on all marine motors, outboard or inboard, according to horsepower; the proceeds to be used to finance a force of water police who would keep an eye on motorboat drivers and arrest them when they broke the law.

There is nothing frivolous about these suggestions. I put them forward in earnest. The number of motorboat owners across Canada increases by thousands each year, and unless something is done to regulate the traffic, people are going to be killed and injured.

To Dance at Stratford

Due for appearance at Stratford Festival, three members of Little Carib dance group from Trinidad, who thrilled Princess Margaret with their dancing during her visit to their island last spring, are Harriet Williams, left, Lennox Langton and Yvonne Sandy. They perform at Stratford July 16 to 19.—(CPC)

Obscure Mia Rocketed To Fame

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the bottom of the South Atlantic, or possibly floating somewhere on the surface, the air force's space-travelling white mouse is believed resting in a tiny hammock after its spectacular rocket ride.

The mouse is Mia II, a female, shot 6,000 miles out of Cape Canaveral Wednesday night in a Thor-Able rocket. Her name (pronounced Me-a) means "Mouse in Able."

She is "II" because another mouse unsuccessfully attempted such a ride last April.

Her hammock is contained within a "life support capsule" containing several days' food, water and oxygen in the rocket's nose cone, for which the air force and navy are still searching.

She was just another white mouse in a Los Angeles supply shop, and was bought by the air force with several other mice to try out for space flight.

When subjected to pressure chamber tests, she stood up better than any of the other mice, and so was selected for the important ride.

The space hammock is mounted on a swivel, and is connected with delicate instruments which assure it will always seem to be horizontal, which the air force is pretty sure helped the mouse survive a force 45 times the animal's weight subjected when the nose cone re-entered the atmosphere.

The nose cone may have sunk, or may still be supported by a balloon at the surface. In either case, Mia II should be horizontal and comfortable until some time next week.

Sooke Pothole Trip Costly for Drivers

Eight Greater Victoria drivers who sought to beat the heat on a recent weekend by going to the Sooke Potholes found the journey costly.

All were fined in Sooke police court yesterday for illegal parking. None of them pulled their cars off the road allowance, but left them on the travelled portion of what is a narrow road anyway.

Five of the eight were fined $10 and $3 costs. Two others, whose cars were farther into the road allowance, were fined $15 and $3, and another was fined $25 and $3 for the same reason and because of a previous record.

Fined were Alexander Coles, 344 Davida, $15 and $3; Frederick McFadden, Victoria, $10 and $3; Harvey Ball, 55 Boyd, $10 and $3; Kenneth Potts, 99 Crease, $10 and $3; John Dyson, 30 Burnside West, $25 and $3; Camille Gallant, 99 Crease, $10 and $3; Robert Cartwright, 3065 Washington, $15 and $3, and Hugh McClelland, 508 Toronto, $10 and $3.

Eight juveniles, picked up by RCMP during a road-block set up in connection with a high school post-graduation party, were dealt with in Colwood court yesterday.

All pleaded guilty to charges of being minors in possession of liquor. All were aged 17.

Two of the juveniles had sentence suspended, and paid costs of $3.50. The other six were fined $25 and $3.50.

In city police court yesterday John Davey, 924 Market, was fined $50 after pleading guilty to consuming liquor in a public place. Court was told he was drinking beer at Clover Point and throwing empty bottles out the car window.

Parents Can't Have Dead Girl's Body

Cheapest Way Out

QUESNEL (CP)—Cariboo MLA William Speare has demanded an investigation of the B.C. Indian Affairs Branch because of its "rank discrimination" in refusing to allow the parents of a dead Indian girl to claim her body.

[illegible] of the Nazko Indian Reserve, died of severe burns Wednesday in a Vancouver hospital after being transferred from Quesnel.

Mr. Speare said the girl's father, Jean Louis Jack, planned to bring the body back to Quesnel for burial. The Indian department at Williams Lake, he said, asked Chief Dominic Charlie to inform Mr. Jack that the body would not be returned.

Mr. Speare said his inquiries showed the Vancouver Indian office has decided the child should be buried on a North Vancouver Indian reserve as a cheaper alternative to shipping the body back to the parents.

"I have never heard of anything so callous . . . this is only one of many incidents of B.C. Indians being treated like dirt," he said.

Japan Agrees To Limit Salmon Catch

NEW YORK (AP)—Business Week magazine says Japanese and American salmon packers have agreed privately to reduce the Japanese catch of Alaska red salmon by voluntarily moving Japanese fishing limits in the North Pacific five degrees west.

As a result, the Japanese expect their catch of red salmon to drop from last year's 20,000,000 fish to about 11,000,000, the magazine adds.

Terms of the talks were not announced officially because the Japanese fear Russian pressure for similar concessions in Siberian waters.

Scientist Urges Campaign

Curb Tobacco Threat

LONDON (UPI)—An American cancer expert called on world scientists yesterday to organize a campaign to cut down on excessive smoking and other habits which he said "play a role" in causing cancer.

Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads of the New York Sloan-Kettering Institute sounded this note in summing up results of the seventh International Cancer Congress. The gathering ended yesterday after a week of discussions among more than 2,000 delegates from 63 countries of East and West.

Dr. Rhoads said the real advance in the fight against cancer in recent years lay in public acceptance of the relation between cancer and such common habits as smoking and unbalanced diets.

"It seems to me that for the first time we have achieved general acceptance that certain elements apparently are causes of cancer," he said. "For instance, for the first time there is almost unanimous acceptance that tobacco smoke plays a role in the production of cancer.

"For the first time there is an almost unanimous decision that here is something we can put our hands on and do something about."

Congressmen Eye Neighbors

WASHINGTON (AP)—A foreign affairs subcommittee of the House of Representatives will visit Canada early this fall in the interests of improving U.S.-Canadian relations.

Rep. Brooks Hays (D, Ark.) said there was a need to "broaden our understanding by visiting additional centres of the Canadian economy."

The Royal Visit

ALL Canada will be honored today when the Princess Margaret sets foot on Canadian soil for the first time officially. Her Royal Highness' presence in the capital of British Columbia brings the Province's Centennial Year to its full blossoming under the happiest of circumstances possible. Once again at Government House Victoria has the pleasure of knowing that a member of the Royal Family is in residence, and one who is universally respected and beloved through the length and breadth of the British Commonwealth. In her own gracious self the Princess Margaret will renew for every British Columbian treasured associations of the Throne with all that it stands for in the affectionate regard of the people.

No one in Victoria has forgotten the memorable visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, now the Queen Mother, when dark clouds of war were gathering over the face of the world. Fresh and vivid as the occasion itself are companion memories of the stay of Her Majesty and Prince Philip before the former's accession to the Throne. It completes a memorable trilogy now to have the Princess Margaret as British Columbia's guest for its birthday celebration. The Centennial Year is one that will long be remembered with pride and happiness for these treasured memories.

The Princess Margaret has been more than kind in freeing almost a month of an extremely busy schedule as a member of the Royal Family to take an active part in British Columbia's birthday. While the visit is a state occasion, with forms that must be observed on that account, there will be great pleasure that Her Royal Highness will travel extensively and see a good deal that is representative of British Columbia. One trusts that the opportunities for rest and relaxation between the formal appearances will be frequent and rewarding. British Columbians everywhere must be on the alert to make the visit as happy a one for the Province's distinguished patron as it will be for themselves.

It has been truly said that the British Commonwealth has grown without blueprints from precedent to precedent in the course of the years. Her Royal Highness' visit is surely part of another one: the support and the influence of the Throne in knitting closer together in friendship and understanding all parts of the vast domain. Canada has watched this trend develop with abiding interest, and it thrills to have been given this fresh entry in the journal of time. The sincerest wish of the nation, the province and Victoria today will be the same: that the Princess Margaret will enjoy her sojourn in the land of the Maple Leaf.

Keep Cadboro Bay Safe

SWIMMERS and outboard motorboats simply cannot share the same waters in safety. Among the boat operators there are always far too many who delight in showing off to the people lolling on the beach and in scaring bathers by cutting in and out among them. When these clowns are allowed to indulge in exhibitionism close to the beaches there is a constant danger of swimmers being run down and killed, or seriously hurt.

That being so, the Gyro Club of Victoria would be well advised to drop from its otherwise excellent Cadboro Park project the dangerous idea of laying down a boat launching ramp there. All other items in the plan are evidence of the Gyros' public-spirited zeal and deserve strong support. But to include a launching site would have the effect of undoing the very thing the club is trying to accomplish: to develop the head of Cadboro Bay as a safe and happy playground for young and old. There is no peace where outboard boats are tearing around, and much less safety as far as bathing is concerned.

Outboard boating and water skiing are clean and exhilarating sports and fine in their proper place. But that place is not in proximity to a bathing beach, and the club's efforts would be much better directed towards keeping the projected park clear of outboard fans than encouraging them by means of launching facilities. It is easy to imagine the incessant din and danger that would result.

Surely it is reasonable to ask that Cadboro Bay should be kept as free as possible from invasion by these modern destroyers of quiet enjoyment by the water's edge. There is hardly a fresh or salt water beach left that isn't being ruined by them. Excluding outboards from Cadboro Park beach would cause no hardship to the boaters, for there are plenty of other launching places elsewhere. With the safety and pleasure of the greatest number in mind, the Gyro Club should concentrate on the other features of the plan and discard this one.

A Senator Lapses

IF he is reported correctly Senator J. W. de B. Farris' reaction to statements attributed to Mr. Douglas Jung in Paris indicates a distinct lack of grace. The youthful Conservative member for Vancouver Centre may have spoken out of turn, but for Senator Farris to ask what right "has this Chinaman" to represent the Canadian people betrays a racial bias that does him small credit.

In fact Mr. Jung has precisely the same right to speak anywhere as has Senator Farris. Mr. Jung is a Canadian born MP with the same privileges as a member of the Commons that the senator enjoys as a member of the Red Chamber. It might be argued in fact that his right is even more influential, for the Commons is the real authority of Parliament whereas the Senate is an adjunct without much power.

The Vancouver Centre member was admittedly not very discreet in his statement that Canadian delegations sent to Russia were "hand-picked, well-briefed by their governments, politically immature and naturally very biased." Put thus the statement has a rather suspect tinge. As a young and newish MP, Mr. Jung may be politically immature himself, and one should hope that delegations of this nature would be hand-picked and well-briefed. Any delegation of any kind should be when it represents an agency or a people, government or otherwise.

Nevertheless Senator Farris shows regrettable lack of tact in casting a derogatory reflection on Mr. Jung's ancestry by the tone and nature of his criticism. It is a matter of credit to the people of his constituency to have elected a member of the Chinese race to Parliament, and a circumstance that speaks well for the democratic character of Canada. No one should know that better than a senator who has long experience in public life in the city that returned Mr. Jung to Parliament.

Interpreting the News

Adenauer Given Firm Backing

By CHARLES M. McCANN

UPI Foreign News Analyst

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has just won one of his most important political victories.

For the first time, his Christian Democratic Party has won a clear majority in the legislature of North Rhine-Westphalia, West Germany's largest state.

Adenauer's victory means that about 25 per cent of the electorate of West Germany has approved his decision to equip the country's armed forces with tactical atomic weapons.

* * *

For months, the Socialists had campaigned not only in North Rhine-Westphalia but throughout the country, against "the atomic death."

Soviet Russia had helped—or thought it did—by making dire threats of the catastrophe that would overwhelm West Germany in a nuclear weapons war if Adenauer carried out his decision.

It was intimated that if West Germany's armed forces were equipped with tactical atomic weapons, Russia would arm East Germany similarly.

The voters evidently were not intimidated by either the Socialist admonition or the Russian threats.

By his victory, Adenauer has 104 seats in the North Rhine-Westphalian legislature against 81 for the Socialists, and 15 for their Free Democratic Party allies.

Adenauer also will have, as the result of his victory, 31 of the 41 seats in the Bundesrat, the upper House of the West German parliament. That is because the state legislatures elect Bundesrat members.

Thus Adenauer will have a nearly three-to-one majority in the upper House, in which any changes in the federal constitution must be approved by a two-thirds majority.

Adenauer took the decision to equip the armed forces with atomic weapons reluctantly.

He decided, however, that West Germany's armed forces must have the best possible equipment and that no modern army can be properly equipped without atomic arms.

As for the Russian threats Adenauer, and the voters, were not impressed.

They understand the terrible implications of an atomic war. But they realize also that if there is an atomic war, West Germany will be in the first line of Allied defence. They believe that despite any promises to the contrary, Russia would use nuclear weapons against West Germany whether it had nuclear weapons or not.

As for the threats to arm East Germany with atomic weapons, Adenauer undoubtedly shares the widely-held opinion that Russia would be asking for trouble if it did.

MAN'S POWER TO DESTROY WITH NUCLEAR ENERGY

Labor in B. C.

A Striking Celebration

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S organized labor (which means 52 per cent of all B.C. labor) seems intent on celebrating that province's centennial year in a way all its own.

Starting early, all the pulp and paper workers—6,000 of them—went out on strike last November and stayed out until February. Then in March, 1,300 electricians struck the B.C. Electric Company, while 3,000 teamsters struck what they could of the heavy construction industry. The electricians gave it up in three weeks; the teamsters stuck it out until May.

With the teamsters safely back at work, the seamen took their turn, striking the Canadian Pacific steamship service which runs from Vancouver to Victoria. They are still out, and only government intervention restrained their colleagues on the Black Ball ferry—the other water link between the mainland and Vancouver Island—from joining them in June. Now the lumber workers are getting into the act.

* * *

Last week, the 27,000-member coastal division of the International Woodworkers of America voted to strike against the 150 lumber companies which operate on the coast. (And 7,000 IWA members in the Interior are heading now for conciliation hearings, after which they will be able to vote, too). The coast workers are not expected actually to strike for a while. They apparently intend to try out the vote as a persuader in negotiations, before using it as a weapon in battle. For what good, either way, it will do.

Labor has not won a single strike in British Columbia this year. The pulp and paper workers settled in February for what they were offered in November. The teamsters settled in May for what they were offered in March. The electricians, more sensibly, admitted defeat and went back for arbitration. The seamen, after more than six weeks of striking, are still such a long way from winning as to be in danger of losing their freedom to strike, if not of losing their ships.

* * *

What can the lumberworkers hope to gain with a strike? It must be obvious to them, as it is to everyone else, that B.C. management has no intention of giving in to B.C. labor this year. It should be even more obvious to them. Their industry has been in trouble since the middle of 1956—long before the rest of Canada felt the recession coming; even before the rest of B.C. felt it.

Exports of West Coast lumber dropped 30 per cent in the last half of 1956, leaving production for the year down about 3 per cent and (with the help of a declining domestic demand) sending production for the next year down 10 per cent. Moreover this year, according to Mr. Brian Gattie, president of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, the figures will be no better, and they may be worse.

Nor is the reason only a decrease in the demand for lumber. It is also, as Mr. Gattie has said, an increase in cost of production. So what makes the International Woodworkers think that the industry will submit to their wage demands and send up production costs still further, if it can—as it can—prevent that? Why, especially, when the industry, in refusing to submit, would have the backing of conciliation officials and the approval of other industry?

It would also have public approval, for the lumber industry, together with its allied forest industries, provides more than half of British Columbia's wealth. This important collectivity is none too healthy at the moment, and it has already been dealt with harshly once, in its distress, by employees in the pulp and paper mills. Surely the lumberworkers, who will gain nothing by striking, would be wise to stay on the job. Certainly they will be celebrating their province's centennial in a more fitting manner if they do so. British Columbia didn't stay in the game for 100 years by striking out.

Gerald Waring

Reports from Ottawa

ONE of the matters that Prime Minister Diefenbaker discussed with President Eisenhower was the position of Canada in the light of changes in American law which make American military atomic science available to Britain.

The necessary qualification for U.S. atomic aid is the prior development of atomic weapons by the nation which is to receive the aid. Britain is the only Western nation which so qualifies.

For several years—and C. D. Howe can be quoted on this—Canada has had the financial, scientific and fissile materials resources to produce atomic bombs. However, the Liberal government's policy, which has been unchanged by the Conservatives, was to refrain from entering the atomic arms race, and instead to concentrate on the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy.

But—

* * *

Canada now needs atomic weapons, in the form of warheads for ground-to-air and air-to-air missiles, to defend Canada and to help defend the United States should the Russians attack.

The entire RCAF home defence potential is in process of being put under the operational control of the North American Air Defence Command at Colorado Springs, along with USAF jets.

The USAF jets are being armed with missiles equipped with atomic warheads. The RCAF's CF-100 is armed only with obsolete rockets. Plans are to equip the new CF-100 with Sparrow missiles, but under present circumstances these missiles will have high explosive rather than atomic warheads.

This is obviously an anomaly that should not be permitted to continue. In wartime it undoubtedly would not be permitted to continue. But the time to issue bullets to your soldiers is not when enemy troops are leaping into your trenches.

The navy is faced with a similar situation. Its job is to ferret out and sink enemy subs. It is planning to acquire nuclear subs, because the evidence is now overwhelming that the best defence against a nuclear sub is another nuclear sub.

But the restrictions placed on the U.S. navy by the McMahon Act prevent our navy from obtaining from the Americans all the information it would like on the design of nuclear subs. So the RCN is working, along with the British, on developing a Canadian nuclear sub—thus necessarily duplicating research the U.S. already has done.

* * *

This absurdity wrought by the Americans, and the RCAF's ineligibility for U.S. atomic warheads, weakens continental defences. Seemingly the new U.S. law was drafted to apply to Britain but not to France. So because the U.S. tries to put a roadblock in the way of France becoming the world's fourth atomic power, Canadian fliers conceivably might have to help defend Chicago and Detroit with outmoded arms, and Canadian sailors to help defend Boston and New York with outmoded ships.

The situation becomes more ridiculous in the light of two additional facts. One is that Canada is the chief supplier of fissile materials for the American atomic arms program. Without the production of our mines, the U.S. would be in a much less favorable position in the atomic arms race with Russia.

The other is that there has always been very free exchange of information and personnel between British and Canadian atomic projects, and between British and Canadian armed forces.

But the problem for Eisenhower is how to justify a "yes" to Diefenbaker in light of Secretary of State Dulles' "no" to Gen. DeGaulle last week. How can the U.S. accept in atomic partnership an ally who has made no effort to develop atomic arms, and refuse such partnership to the French ally who is very eagerly on the way to producing his own atomic weapons? It is a dilemma that may not be resolved until France fires its first home-made A-bomb.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

WHAT surely must have been the crabbiest man in town was driving the car ahead of us in the 5 o'clock traffic. The man driving the car I was in is certainly one of the gentlest men imaginable.

At a cross street the man ahead braked his car suddenly on seeing a car coming from the side. And our car gave him a slight bump on his rear fender. It was the kind of bump we all give one another in the course of a day's motoring on busy city streets, and which we acknowledge with apologetic waves of the hand.

But this crabby man stopped his car and baled out in fury. He came stormily back and demanded of my gentle friend:

"What's the matter with you? Can't you drive? Don't you know that the car behind is always responsible?"

"Yes, sir" said my friend humbly.

"Coming slamming into me like that," gritted the crabby man, stepping around to examine his bumper to see if any damage had been done. A schoolboy kicking the bumper would have done it more harm. He seemed satisfied.

"You watch yourself," warned the crabby man, glaring.

"I wish you," said my gentle companion, "many friends, and a happy life."

The poor crabby man looked stunned, got in his car and drove slowly on.

Pattern for Dominion Day

(From The Ottawa Journal)

THE celebration of Dominion Day in Ottawa this year has surely set the precedent and the pattern for observing Canada's birthday in its capital city.

The Department of the Secretary of State with imagination and initiative has turned what has been a drab, lifeless day into a holiday of color and ceremony. On this July 1 the day was alive with the sights and the sounds of festival, the trooping of the color, the carillon, the band concerts, the fireworks.

With this start to build upon, Ottawa's Dominion Day observance could well become a national and international attraction. The city should plan its own events, making a whole weekend of activity. There should be more flags flown and decorations mounted. Dominion Day should be more than a show on Parliament Hill.

We have the beginnings of a unique occasion. We suspect that the exodus from the city next year will not be as great as before; indeed, it might even be exceeded by those who come to visit.

One More Effort

Towards the Summit

By W. N. EWER, from London

THE letters to Mr. Khrushchev which were delivered by the American, British and French ambassadors in Moscow on July 1 are [illegible] begin serious preparations for a serious summit meeting.

As Mr. Macmillan says in his letter, the object of the three Western governments is not "simply to convene a summit conference. It is to negotiate settlement of some of the differences which divide us. We want a summit conference because we want an effective means of making progress in negotiation."

That is why from the very start they have insisted on the need for adequate preparation—a need which, it was thought, the Soviet government had accepted, when it agreed to the proposals for diplomatic conversations in Moscow in the second half of April. It is the Soviet attitude and procedure during those conversations (described by Mr. Macmillan in the House of Commons as "rather depressing") which makes this new effort necessary.

* * *

Since Mr. Khrushchev, in his letters of June 11, charges the Western governments with responsibility for the failure to make any substantial progress, the factual record is important.

When on March 31 the three powers suggested meetings in Moscow between Mr. Gromyko and their ambassadors, the Soviet government proposed April 17 at the date. The proposal was at once accepted, then at once came the delaying tactics.

First Mr. Gromyko insisted on seeing the ambassadors not together but one at a time—a method which was conducive neither to speed nor to efficiency.

The Western powers agreed protestingly. And Mr. Gromyko called the ambassadors separately. But, even now, not for the sort of businesslike discussions the Western powers wanted. Instead, on May 5, he presented each of them with a long memorandum simply setting out again the list of topics which the Soviet government would wish to discuss at a summit meeting—seemingly to the exclusion of all others.

After replying to this communication, the Western ambassadors made an effort to get things started. They suggested a list of headings under which each side should list the subjects it would like to see dealt with.

As Mr. Macmillan says: "Neither side should veto the inclusion of any topic." The ambassadors and Mr. Gromyko would then go through the combined list "to see which topics should be submitted to the foreign ministers and then to the heads of government."

* * *

It seems a sensible and businesslike proposal. It is exactly the sort of thing which the Moscow talks were, from the beginning, intended to do—to work out an agenda for the foreign ministers and heads of government. The Western powers were, in effect, suggesting the Moscow meetings should at last start the work which they were supposed to have started in April.

This proposal was made to Mr. Gromyko on May 31. He promised an answer. But none has ever come. Instead came Mr. Khrushchev's letters accusing the Western powers of delay and of wishing to "nip in the bud" the whole project of a summit meeting. He did not even mention the proposal. Nor, as Mr. Macmillan points out, did he "say anything to suggest that he has any alternative idea to put forward."

Instead, the Soviet premier deliberately reverted to the earlier and sterile procedure of exchange and immediate publication of polemical letters between the heads of government. It was precisely because that method was clearly getting nowhere and serving no useful purpose that the Soviet Union had accepted the idea of confidential diplomatic exchanges in Moscow. Mr. Khrushchev has in fact in June put the clock right back to where it stood in March.

* * *

What can one make of it? As Mr. Macmillan says: "How can negotiation be successful and result in real detente if the two sides are unable to agree on what they are to negotiate about? All our recent efforts have been bent towards trying to reach agreement with you about this. But we have had no response. That is bound to create the impression that the Soviet government is not really interested in the success of, but only in the demand for, a summit conference."

Nevertheless, a new effort is being made. "I ask you most sincerely," Mr. Macmillan ends by saying, "to make your contribution by accepting our procedural proposal in a spirit of compromise or let us hear of some alternative suggestion."

That seems fair enough.

Letters to the Editor

Pearson's Bubbles

A cherished privilege is that of criticizing both the government in power and also the opposition, which privilege involves no breach of party loyalty. It is a puzzle to read Hansard and the press, and discover the ridiculously immature utterances of some of our politicians in opposition as they nibble and snap in some silly flurry without justification.

We expect more than this from a body of elected individuals who possess an almost senate freedom towards [illegible]

A duty of the opposition is to build up an unbreachable foundation of truth towards future elections. This will fail of accomplishment if Lester B. Pearson continues to inflate phony bubbles that burst, unfortunately, upon the quite innocent heads of his followers. For thus will Canada's Liberal party return to power.

Mr. Pearson's last inept accusation, viz., "that Mr. Diefenbaker's vision of a bigger and better Canada was stolen from the Liberal party," serves only to focus public attention towards "Why were we Liberals defeated, and obviously by our own voting?"

It was because this "vision" had begun to limit itself to centre around the individual politician here and there. It was no longer objective and for Canada in the wide sense. And the scene changed.

Good purpose would be served if our present opposition conceded self-evident facts, notably that so far the Conservative government is striding cleanly above flotsam and jetsam that swirls beneath the innuendo and foolish taunts that serve no dignified purpose.

At this stage no justification has occurred for hampering their progress. Elected, the opposition must prove as big or bigger in concept than the government. Its plaudits should be generous, its accusations true.

Modern Art

With specific reference to letters in the July 10 Colonist by M. A. Shaw and Mr. Partridge blasting modern art, why is it so many people consider themselves qualified critics simply because they possess the gift of sight?

Those who enjoy the simpler forms of art are at liberty to indulge themselves therein. For those who have perhaps greater knowledge and deeper artistic appreciation, modern art may be more interesting, more challenging.

In any case we, the public, have no excuse for criticizing any artist on the basis of our own ignorance. And surely there is room in our community for many expressions of artistic endeavor.

Government's Gesture

Island Gift for Princess

RECREATION MINISTER
EARLE WESTWOOD

Princess Margaret will shortly own British Columbia real estate.

Provincial officials announced yesterday that Portland Island, a mile off Swartz Bay near Sidney, will be given the Princess by the government of the province, and renamed Princess Mar- [illegible]

"We feel it will enable her to have a real interest in the province of B.C.," said Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood, who added that it was expected the 540-acre island will be developed for the recreation of all of the people in the province.

The government, through the B.C. centennial committee, will also present Princess Margaret with a jewelled brooch.

Patricia Bay airport will be closed to all commercial and [illegible] minutes during Princess Margaret's arrival today.

A transport department official said yesterday no other craft will be allowed to land or depart from 9.45 a.m., when the RCAF C-5 carrying the Princess lands, until probably 10.30.

This will interrupt only two commercial Trans Canada Air Lines flights.

* * *

Civic officials have been given this advice on conversing with Princess Margaret and it applies to everyone Her Royal Highness may choose to speak to:

"The princess should be addressed in the first instance as 'Your Royal Highness.' Subsequently in the conversation, which may be started only by the princess, she is addressed as 'Ma'am.'"

A provincial cabinet minister will accompany Princess Margaret at all times during her visit to British Columbia.

Premier Bennett will be in attendance from the time the princess arrives here at 10 a.m. today until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Then Works Minister W. N. Chant will take over, accompanying the official party to the Veterans' Hospital here Tuesday morning while Education Minister Leslie Peterson will be aboard HMCS Crescent during the naval review.

Premier Bennett will again take over later that day and until Princess Margaret leaves for up-Island first thing Wednesday. Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood will accompany her throughout her Island tour.

Other ministers will take turns during the remainder of her [illegible]

Churches Set Up Vacation School

An interdenominational vacation church school for children aged 4 to 12 will be held in First United Church Monday through Friday morning Aug. 11 to 22.

More than 130 youngsters attended a similar school last year.

Churches participating are First United, First Baptist, St. John's Anglican, Metropolitan United and Chinese United.

The school will offer "constructive" summer activity, including recreation, handicrafts, Bible study, worship and singing, said Rev. C. Leighton Streight.

"Also it provides a concentrated block of time in which we can get across to these children something of the Christian message and Christian way of life," he added. "It is equivalent to a year in Sunday School."

An advance registration will be taken at Eaton's and the Hudson's Bay, July 28 to Aug. 2.

HISTORIC TERM

The word "parliament" was first used in an official document describing a meeting of English barons in 1242.

Commons Resents Speech

'Chinaman' Attack Draws Protest from All Parties

OTTAWA (CP)—A prominent senator's description of a young Vancouver Commons member as "this Chinaman" aroused all-party disapproval Friday in the Commons.

The remark, alluding to Douglas Jung (PC-Vancouver Centre) Canada's first MP of Chinese extraction, rebounded quickly when Opposition Leader Pearson tried to raise it as a question of privilege at the opening of the House sitting.

MPs RESENTFUL

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said members "as a whole" feel resentful and Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) called it a "reflection" on Mr. Jung, now absent in Paris.

The Commons concern, also expressed outside the House, sprang from a Senate remark Thursday by Senator J. W. de B. Farris, 79, Liberal from Vancouver and former president of the Canadian Bar Association.

"What right has this Chinaman got to represent the Canadian people?" snapped the senator during discussion of statements attributed to Mr. Jung while in Paris at a NATO association youth leaders' conference.

STATEMENT TODAY

Senator Farris said Friday night he is preparing a statement which will probably be issued today.

Mr. Jung had been quoted as saying Canadian delegations to Russia are handpicked and "naturally biased" while Russian delegations here often can't see the peoples or places they wish to see.

Comment from Vancouver was critical of Senator Farris' remark.

GREAT INSULT

A "great insult . . . objectionable because of its association with race prejudice," said President Harry Lowe of the Lions Club Chinatown chapter.

President S. B. Gervin of the Vancouver Civic Unity Association, said the senator's remark indicates some Canadians still are not prepared to "accept Canadians on the basis of merit."

Victoria Chinese Quietly Indignant

Victoria Chinese were quietly indignant yesterday about Senator J. W. de B. Farris' reference to Vancouver Chinese-Canadian MP Douglas Jung as "this Chinaman."

"The general feeling is that it is unfortunate there still exists at this stage such feelings, especially in a man like Senator Farris," said Jack Lee, co-chairman of the Chinese Benevolent Society.

He said the Chinese people here were reserving any further statement until "a fuller story is known."

Eisenhower, Dulles Tour Seaway Project

MASSENA, N.Y. (UPI) — President Eisenhower stopped off to inspect the huge billion-dollar St. Lawrence seaway and power project yesterday on his way home from three days of talks in Canada.

Eisenhower, who signalled the start of the American portion of the joint U.S.-Canadian project by signing legislation authorizing the construction four years ago, visited Eisenhower Lock, an intermediate pool and the giant Barnhart Island power dam.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Mrs. Dulles, White House press secretary James Hagerty, and Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, the president's personal physician.

He arrived at Massena Airport aboard the presidential plane, Columbine III, under threatening skies. He doffed his hat and waved to the crowd of some 2,000 persons who gathered at the airport to greet him. Other thousands lined the roads between the airport and the project to greet the first president ever to visit this area while in office.

The presidential party then took a 20-minute trip aboard the Coast Guard buoy tender Maple through a vast three-and-a-half-mile honeycomb of concrete and steel whose power output will be the second greatest in the world.

Nip Everything in Bud

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In yesterday's column, I mentioned the conditioning treatment which should be given to the lawn before departing on annual holidays. The [illegible] do with a few licks, too, if they are to be green and healthy when you return.

Probably the most important of these pre-vacation jobs is to make a tour of the garden picking everything in sight. Take off ALL the flowers—not only those which are fading now, but also those which are likely to fade during your absence. I'd even go so far as to cut off every bud which is showing any trace of color.

You see, there is a powerful instinct in every plant to perpetuate its race. Every attribute and every quality of a flower is designed for the fulfilment of this urge—its color, the shape of its petals, fragrance, and its secretion of sweet nectar are all for one purpose—to attract the pollinating insect so seed may be set and scattered, and the future of the race assured.

Once a flower succeeds in accomplishing this mission—setting seed—it has no further incentive to continue in bloom, and many of our most popular subjects will simply call it a day and pack up for the season.

If we want our flower beds to remain colorful right through until late [illegible] trate every attempt of the flower to set and ripen its seed. Hence the need for picking off all the flowers before leaving on vacation.

This principle holds for the vegetable plot too, and everything which could possibly ripen seed during your absence should be picked, even if you have to force armfuls of immature vegetables upon your neighbors. Beans and cucumbers are particularly vulnerable in this respect, and the vines will quit bearing at the drop of a hat if they are not kept picked over.

A lack of soil moisture will often trigger off a mechanism in many of the plants and vegetables to make them set seed prematurely, and this is especially true of lettuce and spinach. I think the failing water supply must throw a scare into the plants, and fearing their impending doom, they hurry about this business of perpetuating the race.

To guard against this, loosen the soil between the plants and between the vegetable rows, using the Dutch hoe, and breaking up any crust which may have formed on the surface. Follow this up with a thorough, deep [illegible] it, cover every inch of bare soil with lawn mowings.

Quite a few of my gardening friends believe I have lost my marbles and have become a little bit "tetched" on this subject of mulching, but the fact remains that you never see bare soil on wild land. Nature abhors bare soil as she abhors a vacuum, and she will shower down tree leaves upon it, cast air-borne weed seeds on it, and do everything in her power to get it decently clothed as quickly as possible.

I do hope you'll give mulching a trial this year, covering every inch of bare soil with lawn mowings or other organic litter before leaving on your vacation. I am sure that when you return and see the cool, moist soil under the mulch and observe the strong, sturdy growth of your plants, you too will become a zealous missionary spreading the gospel of litter gardening.

Paradox of Royalty

Long Stream of Crises Set Her Lonely Course

This is the last of three articles by the Colonist's London correspondent.

'Margaret Fairy-Tale Princess But She Longs to Be 'Human'

* * *

The time may come when it will be possible to break down some of the invisible barriers of protocol and end the "invisible imprisonment" of royalty. There are already signs of big changes. Prince Philip is contributing considerably and effecting changes as yet barely noticed. Prince Charles is going to a preparatory school. Princess Margaret never went to school.

Even so, the princess has many aids to the "common touch" denied to her ancestors. She reads all the London daily newspapers and looks at most of the glossy magazines, English and American. She listens to the radio and watches television—and her tastes are varied.

Sparkling Humor

She enjoys good books—modern and classical, and she has a sparkling sense of fun and appreciates humor in others. The ability to laugh she regards as an essential virtue in her friends.

No doubt she would delight occasionally to be caught up in a traffic jam except for the fact that it would make her late and punctuality is one of her virtues, part of the inate courtesy of royalty who always try not to keep people waiting.

Yet behind the facade of stately courtesy there is a lonely princess.

Never Alone

It is the paradoxical loneliness of a girl who can never be alone whose every action may be seen and reported. The speculations on Princess Margaret's young men always sidestep the fact that she is never alone with them—that the so-called "Princess Margaret set" is in fact a crowd—that no young man has ever seen her home. It is something which is just not done. One day it may be.

It is a hard life. She would love to act but because she is a princess she cannot appear publicly on the stage—the nearest she has got to it is to act as a very competent stage manager at a charity performance. In private she has appeared in pantomime and danced the can-can (very well, rehearsed amongst others by Danny Kaye) and she is an exceptionally good ballroom dancer.

Homely Instincts

She has many homely instincts instilled from her mother. She can cook but rarely does. She plays the piano well and she keeps a diary which no doubt will be revealing to distant generations and indicate some of the hidden character of a gallant princess who accepts graciously the greatness thrust upon her and succeeds in doing her difficult job with tact and charm.

Circumstances have thrust Margaret into a stream of constant crises. She was only five when her grandfather, whom she adored and whom she helped to mellow, died. She was only six when Edward VIII who was her favorite uncle, abdicated. The whole pattern of their family life was destroyed.

War Upheaval

When she was nine there was another upheaval caused by the outbreak of war. Later Elizabeth, her constant companion and playmate, was taken away from her—by her marriage to Prince Philip.

Within five years her father too, had been taken from her. It was a personal tragedy which affected her deeply and from which she took a long time to recover. Not long afterwards Queen Mary died and, austere and forbidding though she was, she had a very soft spot for Margaret.

Icy Retort

Add it all up and you will find the influences which have createn the legend of Princess Margaret. The icy retort to the query about her sister "I suppose you mean Her Majesty, the Queen?" reflected not only the niceties of protocol but a very human ache in the heart.

The odd flash of temper which occasionally penetrate the gossip columns reflects the frustrations of being royalty. The walk in the park is not defiance by a "flighty" girl but an expression of ordinary humanity and a desire not to be different.

Canadians, however, will no doubt want to find some relationship between the storybook princesses of their childhood and Princess Margaret. They will not be disappointed. She is petite—but every inch a princess.

Acclaimed one of the best-dressed women in the world, in her own right, she is not likely to disappoint the fashion-conscious women of Canada. But they must not expect any extremes.

Prevent Tensions

In personality she is charming and shares with the queen an exceptional talent to put people at their ease and prevent tensions which most people feel on royal occasions. Her enthusiasm for people and new experiences are completely genuine, her comments, often pointed, are always sincere.

Princess Margaret will bring to Canada a sense of gracious occasion. She will enjoy it as much as the citizens will enjoy it. For her it is a challenge, a duty to be performed—a job to be done well and at that the little princess is a true craftsman.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	4 ♡	Dbl.
Redbl.	All Pass

Opening lead: ♠ K

West's hand was not good enough for his double of four hearts; he could neither be reasonably sure of setting the four-heart bid nor safe at a run-out. He should have stayed "fixed" by passing South's preemptive opening. But, as so often happens when a non-vulnerable side pre-empts against a vulnerable side, West feared that his opponents were trying to steal something and his double was by way of self-protection against the presumed larceny.

West shifted to a diamond and North's king won. Declarer led dummy's jack of clubs, covered by East's king. East returned a spade and South trumped. Declarer drew a couple of rounds of trumps, played over to dummy's king of diamonds and led a club, finessing his seven-spot. This lost to the ten, and West was hooked. A spade lead would set up dummy's queen; a club would set up declarer's queen.

West grumbled that his partner should have played the nine on the club lead, but that wouldn't have helped. Nothing the defence could do would defeat four hearts as long as declarer guessed the club situation correctly. Nor would it have saved anything for East to rescue the redouble at five diamonds or for West to take himself out at four spades. Once the trap was sprung, East and West could not get out for less than 800 points, whether they played the hand or allowed South to play it redoubled.

North's redouble deserves favorable comment. He couldn't be sure; but it looked very much like his hand would furnish the three tricks by which his partner might be overbidding. And he had the power to take care of the opponents at spades or diamonds, and probably at clubs, too, barring some freakishly long suit against him.

Children Injured In City Accidents

Three Victoria children, two girls and a boy, were safe at home last evening after narrow brushes with death in traffic accidents.

Denise Holden, 6, and her sister Lucille, 4, were slightly injured when struck by a truck at Oak Bay Junction, about 2.45 p.m.

The girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. Holden, 1510 Belcher, were badly frightened, but when taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital it was found that Denise had suffered only a small cut over the left eye, and [illegible]

Both were treated and released.

Driver of the truck was Benjamin Oxendale, 1290 Park Terrace.

Roy Smith, 13, of 123 Howe, escaped with abrasions to the elbow and legs in a collision later in the afternoon at Menzies and Belleville.

Police said the boy was riding his bicycle on Belleville toward Government when struck by a car driven by Donald McNevan, 81, of 1642 Hollywood Crescent.

The boy was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, treated and allowed to go home.

Cites Prejudice

Canada is guilty of "unconscious racial discrimination" Londoners were told yesterday by Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, Canadian primate. Nation's church leader, in England to attend Lambeth Conference, said Indians were not freely and easily accepted into communities when they left reserves. Primate cited discrimination as one of church's biggest problems.

Two-Year Wage Contract

Transit Pact Ends Dispute

Signing of a two-year contract between the B.C. Electric and 2,100 transit workers in [illegible] Westminster appeared certain today after the employees approved a conciliation officer's recommendation.

Members of the Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America in the three cities agreed to accept a seven per cent wage increase this year and a further five per cent in 1959.

The company was expected to approve the proposed contract today.

The vote was taken in the three cities yesterday and counted last night in Vancouver after the Victoria ballots were flown over.

The first wage increase is from June 1 this year and the second will date from June 1, 1959.

Signing of the two-year contract would make the pay rate for bus operators 2.09½ cents [illegible] hour from June 1, next year.

Tasmania, one of the six states of Australia, is an island of 26,000 square miles.

Last Canadian Civilian Released by Castro

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Cuban rebels Friday released Richard A. Sargent of Toronto, their last civilian hostage. He was abducted June 26.

The rebels held on to 29 kidnapped U.S. sailors and marines from the Guantanamo naval base. Nineteen other North American civilians, including two Canadians, were freed earlier.

Sargent, a stocky sugar mill manager, gave laconic replies to reporters' questions and acted like a man impatient to resume a normal way of life.

Asked if he resented kidnapping by the Cubans, he replied:

"No, but I'm not used to hanging around so long and not being able to carry on my business."

Sargent, 58, observed wryly: "I was the first one in and the last one out. I was easy to get and damned hard to get rid of."

Sun, Tourists Pick Up Employment

An "upswing in tourist trade" and continued good weather were cited by the National Employment Service here as reasons for a slight improvement in employment here during the week.

Male applicants for work dropped by 90 to 3,291, and 67 fewer women were registered, totalling 1,425.

"Figures include almost 200 persons still registered with the farm-labor unit but for whom there is now little likelihood of any further work berry picking."

Stuart Proves His Point; Hits Grand-Slam Homer

Dick Stuart, the glib-talking, long-hitting infielder who has a lot of faith in his own ability, marked his second triumphant day in the major leagues yesterday by smashing a bases-loaded home run that powered Pittsburgh to a 7-2 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Stuart, brought up from Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League earlier this week, smashed his second homer in as many games as he capped a five-run rally that gave right-hander Ronnie Kline clear sailing to his eighth victory.

The 25-year-old first baseman, who has hit a total of 175 home runs in three-and-a-half seasons in the minor leagues, clouted a three-run homer against the Cubs in his first major league game on Thursday.

Milwaukee Braves, given a lecture by manager Fred Haney before yesterday's game at Los Angeles, protected their game-and-a-half National League lead by stopping the Dodgers for the second straight day, 7-4, in a battle marked by a sixth-inning rhubarb.

Haney lectured his players on the perils of Hollywood after four of his stars had attended a wild party. The Braves stayed strictly to business as they downed Los Angeles, 7-4, for their fourth win in 12 games with the Dodgers this season.

JOINS HASSLE

The fierce sixth-inning hassle developed when an umpire changed his ruling on a ground-rule double, allowing two Milwaukee runners to scre. A 10-minute argument ensued with general manager Buzzy Bavasi of the Dodgers getting in his say and the Dodgers finishing the game under protest.

San Francisco held second by downing Cincinnati Redlegs by a 7-4 count in 12 innings. Rookie first baseman Orlando Cepeda, returning to the lineup after being benched for a rest, smashed a three-run, 400-foot homer in the 12th for the San Francisco win.

Sam Jones became the first National League pitcher to pass the 100-strikeout mark when he fanned 10 in hurling St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-2 win over Philadelphia. Jones, boosting his total to 108, scattered eight hits in winning his sixth game while Wally Moon broke a 2-2 deadlock with his first homer of the season.

TURLEY'S 13TH

It was the same old story in American League with the New York Yankees winning another game, 11-3, over Cleveland. Bob Turley picked up his 13th win against three defeats and was helped by Mickey Mantle's 22nd homer of the season.

Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert belted successive home runs in the seventh inning as Boston trimmed Chicago White Sox, 6-1. Jensen, who batted in four runs to boost his major league leading total to 76, broke a 1-1 deadlock with his 26th homer to help Ike Delock to his eighth victory against no defeats.

Speaking Briefly

Reed Beats Bedard— U.S. Takes 2-0 Lead

* * *

. . . four-stroke lead

Canada's hopes for her first Davis Cup tennis triumph over the United States in 12 meetings were all but smashed yesterday when unorthodox Whitney Reed scored a straight-set victory over Canadian champion Bob Bedard in the second singles match at Toronto.

Reed, the eighth-ranking American player, chalked up a hard-fought 9-7, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Bedard to give the United States a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series. Barry MacKay, who beat Don Fontana in the opening match Thursday, and Sam Giammalva are heavily-favored to wrap up the series in doubles play against Bedard and Fontana today.

Reed, making his Davis Cup debut against a player who had seen action in five previous cup ties, turned in a brilliant performance and broke Bedard's sprit by taking the 16-game first set in which the Canadian held two set points.

JACKIE BURKE shot a sizzling four-under-par 67 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 130 and a four-stroke lead at the half way mark of the $25,000 Insurance City Open golf tournament. Burke, 12 under par for his two rounds, was four ahead of long-hitting George Bayer, Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, who shot a 66 yesterday. Al Balding of Toronto was five strokes off the pace after a second round 69 . . . Jules Huot, pro at the host Laval Club, Friday won the Quebec Open golf championship with a two-under-par 142 for the 36-hole title play . . . Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles said Friday his city expects to bid for the 1964 Olympic Games . . . Manuel Armenteros of Cuba, fourth-ranking world bantamweight boxer, knocked out Japan's champion Koji Ishibashi in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round fight at Tokyo last night.

* * *

WELTERWEIGHT CONTENDER Gaspar Ortega, a 2-1 underdog in the betting, forced the fighting and roughed up Mickey Crawford to win a split decision in a 10-round televised bout at New York last night. The two judges favored Ortega for his aggressiveness while referee Mark Conn voted for Crawford because of his speed and number of punches . . . Mike Agostini of Trinidad won a 100-yard heat and finished second in a 220-yard semi-final to reach the finals in both events of the British Amateur Athletic Union track and field championships. Bob Reid of Vancouver qualified for the pole vault final with a leap of 12 feet six inches . . . the International Boxing Club is interested in trying to match the winner of the July 16 bout between Canada's Yvon Durelle and Mike Holt of South Africa in a title fight at Montreal with light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore . . . A $75,000 damage suit brought against Duke Snider, slugging centre fielder for Los Angeles Dodgers, by a Cincinnati fan back in 1954 has been dismissed . . . Branch Rickey Sr., board chairman of Pittsburgh Pirates, said yesterday he believes a third major league with New York as the hub would be the best solution to baseball's growing pains.

Borrowed Armored Car Saves Soccer Referee

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Eric Heiger, Austrian soccer referee, had to be escorted from the field in an armored car following a 2-1 victory by the Chacarita Juniors over a local team at the suburban town of Quilmes.

Angry local fans shouting the Spanish equivalent of "murder the bum" attacked Heiger, and members of the visiting club with stones. A police riot squad had to fire over the heads of the mob and charge into them before the armored car, borrowed from the local bank, could carry Heiger to safety.

Ernestine Leaves Russia— 'Glad to Be Out of There'

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — The Canadian and United States ladies' gymnastic champion, Ernestine Russell of Windsor, Ont., was on her way here from Russia today. Her coach, Bernard Newman, a Windsor school teacher, said "we are glad to be out of there."

Newman's wife said he called her yesterday from Vienna. He said he and Ernestine were asked to leave the Soviet Union follwing the world gymnastic championships in which Miss Russell finished 60th in a field of 88. They had planned to stay in Moscow until July 14.

Newman said no reason was given for their being told to leave, but he claimed it came from a government source.

The Windsor girl, considered Canada's top female athlete for the past three years, went to Russia after private subscriptions raised more than $3,000 on her behalf. She was reported to be the most popular performer in Moscow with photographers and autograph seekers following her constantly.

Newman said yesterday that the judges were all communist. But he admitted that Miss Russell didn't deserve to win. However, he said "she should have been in the first 15."

He said she was hampered by loss of weight. "She lost eight pounds in nine days. I lost six. The food was horrible and what you didn't eat at one meal came back on your plate for the next. There was never any butter for your bread or any variety of any kind. We are glad to be out of there."

Campbell River Salmon Fishing 'Best in Years'

Hottest fishing area on Vancouver Island at the moment is Campbell River, where good-sized springs, some of tyee size, and coho to 10 pounds are making it [illegible]

Alan Maclean of Painter's Lodge reports that fishing for the past two or three weeks has been better than anything he has seen there for the past 10 years, and his report is echoed by Ken Cosby at Ferndell Court.

Late entries to The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest from Painter's and Ferndell Court show tyees of 36½ and 32¼ pounds and many springs in the 10-20 pound class as well as good-sized coho. Limit catches are no rarity.

PLUGS BEST

Best fishing is off the light on the Campbell River side of Quadra Island and most anglers are using plugs, particularly Lucky Louies and Tiny Louies. But coho, and springs, too, are taking bucktail flys and the Gresvig Paravan spoon and the Kam Lure are also being used extensively. And, of course, the reliable Tom Mack spoon and Macs Squid plug will probably do as well as any artificial lure.

Fishing is also good south of Campbell River. Anglers out from Shelter Bay, within easy reach of Cape Mudge, are doing consistently well and coho are being taken off Oyster Bay, Miracle Beach and Saratoga Beach. Good-sized springs and some coho are to be found at Bates Beach and coho are being taken at Little River.

Record Assault On BEG Medals

Aussies Confident of Big Haul

By JACK SULLIVAN

CARDIFF (CP)—It wouldn't surprise many people if Australian athletes won at least 40 of the 92 British Empire Games Gold Medals at stake July 18-26 to make the greatest one-country haul in the 28-year history of this Commonwealth sports extravaganza.

The svelte green-clad Aussies are the world's fastest humans in the water and on land at distances from 100 yards to a mile.

The Aussies have a simple explanation for their world-recognized greatness: sacrifice of pleasure for hard work.

"That's the only reason we've reached the top," team manager Bill Young said in an interview Friday at St. Athan, an RAF station converted into an Empire Village for athletes 17 miles west of this Welsh capital.

"We'll win these games because this team is the greatest we've ever entered in international competition, including the 1956 Olympics," Young said. "We won 20 gold medals with 75 atheletes in the 1954 Vancouver games and there's no earthly reason why we shouldn't double that with our 109-athlete team here."

England won 23 gold medals at Vancouver, the greatest achievement by one country since the games started in Hamilton, Ont., 28 years ago.

The evidence of stiff training is obvious at the track in Empire Village and at the Empire pool in downtown Cardiff. Confident, but not cocky, the Aussies have been watched closely by athletes of other countries here who freely admit that the down-under swimmers and cinder-track stars are unbeatable.

MANY STARS

Among Aussie top stars are: Mrs. Marlene Matthews Willard whose 10.3 seconds for the women's 100 yards stands as a world record, but is not yet officially recognized. She also holds the unofficial record of 23.4 seconds for the 220.

Albert Thomas who this week broke the world record for the three-mile with a phenomenal 13.10 clocking.

Herb Elliott, who has broken the four-minute mile six times this year and is the overwhelming favorite for the event.

Hector Hogan, who shares the 100-yard world record of 9.3 seconds with five Americans.

The [illegible] team of Mrs. Willard, Betty Cuthbert, Wendy Hayes and Kay Johnson holds the world record time of 45.6 seconds.

Among the swimmers are the incomparable Konrads, teen-aged John and Ilsa, who have smashed just about every free-style record in the book from 110 yards to 1,650 yards.

Friday both the Konrads were placed on the sick list. Ilsa is in bed with influenza and her brother has a sore throat.

There also is chunky Lorraine Crapp who holds the recognized mark of 4:48.6 for the women's 440-freestyle. And Dawn Fraser, winner of the 100 metres in the 1956 Olympics.

General manager Young and other team officials can't see anyone beating Stuart MacKenzie, 22-year-old world sculling champion from Sydney. MacKenzie placed second behind Russia's Vyacheslav Ivanov in the Olympics and beat the Russian in the 1957 and 1958 Diamond Sculls.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Stretch-running Silky Sullivan has developed a fever and probably will not run in the $100,000-added Westerner for three-year-olds at Hollywood Park July 19.

Olympic Aggregate Won by Jim Zavitz

Jim Zavitz, getting a good chance for practice in Olympic course competition, captured the international grand aggregate on the opening day of the British Columbia Rifle Association pistol championships at the Thetis Lake Range.

The Nanaimo RCMP corporal, who will be shooting for Canada in the world championships at Moscow next month, won the aggregate in the Olympic matches with 535 of a possible 600.

The Olympic course matches were introduced into the BCRA meet this year for the first time and Zavitz will be shooting in this type of competition at Moscow.

Second to Zavitz in the aggregate was Ed Norman of the Vancouver Capilano Gun Club with 516. Bill Beatty of the Vancouver City Police was third with 505, R. B. Coll of the Vancouver City Police, fourth at 500 and W. T. Ashley of the U.S. Army, fifth at 492.

The top three B.C. resident marksmen during the next two days of shooting in the BCRA will earn berths in the Canadian championships at Ottawa in August.

Match results:

Individual metric slow fire—1, J. Orewiler, Seattle Police, 282x300; 2, Frank Morse, Capital City Gun Club, 257; 3, J. Klues, U.S. Army, 256; 4, Lt. H. Schultheis, Seattle Police, 252; 5, T. A. Cocking, Vancouver Police, 251; 6, Jim Zavitz, Nanaimo RCMP, 248.

Individual silhouette rapid fire—1, Jim Zavitz, Nanaimo RCMP, 287x300; 2, Bill Beatty, Vancouver, 279; 3, R. B. Coll, Vancouver City Police, 278; 4, Ed Norman, Capilano Gun Club, 278; 5, W. T. Ashley, U.S. Army, 267.

Merchants Capture Little League Crown

Merchants, exploding for 10 runs in the first inning, whipped Boosters, 36-3, last night at Majestic Park to win the Cadboro Bay Little League baseball championship.

Dave McSween with four doubles and a single, Don McPherson with five straight singles, and Dave Cranston with two doubles, paced Merchants' 23-hit attack against three Booster pitchers.

Boosters' three runs came on a homer by Walter Thornloe in the fourth inning.

Stocks Move To Year's High At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved to another peak for the year and made its best advance in 2½ months.

The rise tacked an estimated $2,000,000,000 to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market reached its highest level since Aug. 21, 1957 which was just prior to the sharp break of last fall.

Barnat Featured

TORONTO (CP) — Speculatives failed to hold the attention of investors as they did in earlier sessions this week and the trading pace slowed considerably.

Final volume was 6,645,000 shares, compared with Thursday's 8,689,000, and was the lightest day this week.

Speculative issues spurted in the first hour when the ticker fell five minutes behind sales on the trading floor, but by noon the pace began to slow down. It picked up again briskly in the closing minutes.

Barnat was the outstanding speculative, trading 533,000 shares and adding 24 cents at $1.34. Consolidated Halliwell was next in line with 380,800, dipping eight cents at 58.

The market generally was mixed with industrials scoring substantial gains to push their index ahead two points. Western oils were slightly ahead but golds and base metals both were more than one-half point losers.

Speculators Lose

MONTREAL (CP)—Although penny issues were generally irregular, some big gainers earlier this week took substantial losses. New Hosco at 4.30 was down 1.65. Continental lost 21 cents at 1.10. Halliwell at 58 cents was down 10 cents and O'Brien lost 13 cents at 1.02. Also down were Permo, off 9 cents at 1.61 and Willsey at 35 cents and Maritimes at 83 cents, each off 10 cents. On the upside, New Continental improved 16 cents at 45, Barnat went up 35 cents to 1.35 and Medal at 2.80 was up 29 cents.

Hollinger lost ⅛ point at 23.

Strong spot in the industrials was banks, led by Nova Scotia at 61½, up 1½ and Commerce, up ¾ at 49⅝.

Weak places were the utility and paper groups, featuring one point losses by B.C. Power at 40 and Great Lakes Paper at 29.

International Nickel improved 1⅛ at 73⅛ and Imperial Oil 1¼ at 44¾.

On the downside were Canadian Oil at 28⅞ and Page Hersey, down ⅜ each.

Industrials Gain

VANCOUVER—Crown Zellerbach Canada rose to a new high in trading at $21, and other industrials making gains were Capital Estates at $6.25, Powell River at $33¾ and Sicks at $30¼.

Mines were fairly active with New Hamil adding 3½ cents at 39½ cents, and Trojan up two cents at 17 cents. On the lower saide was Craigmont at 2.75. Vananda rose to 4 cents.

Vanlor at 1.17 was higher among oils.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP)—Gains were registered in nearly all sections of the London Stock Market.

There was an increased demand for fixed interest securities, and gilt-edged issues displayed marked firmness.

German bonds again advanced in the foreign market and Japanese issues were in demand. In rails, Canadian Pacific lost ground but other dollar stocks made a generally satisfactory showing.

Steel shares resumed their upward movement. Oil issues moved narrowly.

South African golds were firm on a selective demand.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices showed a firm tone in moderately active trade. There was some irregularity in other grains.

All flax contracts showed new seasonal highs and there was evidence of buying by international interests and export houses although no export business in coarse grains was reported.

Hedges appeared but offerings were relatively light.

There was some commission house and shipping demand for oats and barley. Prices moved narrowly and showed hesitation at times. There were reports of modest quantities of barley sold to the United Kingdom.

The rye market declined, reflecting an easier tone on United States markets where estimates have forecast a large rye crop.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 510,000 bushels, Japan 600,000, Switzerland 205,000, Belgium. The Netherlands and Venezuela, small quantities.

The July delivery was up as much as 2 cents a bushel as short interests bid aggressively to cover commitments which come due July 22.

$4 Rise Follows Report

Pipeline Stock Stronger

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Market strength of Interprovincial Pipeline—it rose during the past two weeks from $44 to $48—is believed to be due to the report [illegible] Bechtel Ltd. that it would be less costly to use Inteprovincial facilities to carry western crude to the Montreal area than to build an entirely new line.

Canadian Bechtel, which built Trans-Mountain Pipeline and Westcoast Transmission line is the acknowledged expert on the business and its president S. M. Blair has told the Borden Commission that using Interprovincial it would cost $344,910,000 or 69.1 cents a barrel, whereas the entirely new line, envisaged and supported by R. A. Brown of Home Oil would cost $400,000,000 or 73.9 cents a barrel to Montreal.

MUST MODIFY

In order to move the extra 255,000 barrels a day, the Interprovincial line would have to be considerably modified by renovations, looping and extension, and these according to Mr. Blair would cost $290,022,000.

However the chances of a crude oil pipe line being laid into Montreal continue to be jeopardized by the opposition of the leading refinery companies in the Montreal area.

Shell Oil, Imperial Oil and B-A Oil have all expressed their doubts about the economic advantage of such a line and they are now joined by British Petroleums which is building a $60,000,000 refinery in Montreal. BP told the Borden Commission that it proposed to use its own oil from the middle east for this refinery.

NEW HOSCO IN SLUMP

New Hosco had its worst day on the stock exchange yesterday since its dramatic non-stop advance from 17 cents to $7.25. The Mattagami copper prospect announced a second successful drill hole, but that wasn't enough to stop the profit-takers who shooed the stock down to 4.50—a drop of 1.35 on the day.

OIL SHARES EXCHANGED

Standard Oil of New Jersey now owns nearly 97 per cent of the shares of International Petroleum as a result of an offer to exchange into the shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey on the basis of 10 International Petroleum for nine Standard. The offer expired July 1.

The directors said they did not think a company formed to deal with tobacco "is a suitable body to control a crematorium."

U.S. Navy Praise for RCN

1,100-Man Parade Thrills City

'Man, You Boys Sure Are Smart'

They're the Bestest Band in the Land

Victorious Mount View High School band, home from winning international competition in Calgary, was enthusiastically cheered in front of city hall yesterday by officials of Victoria and Saanich, Chamber of Commerce, school board, and parents and teachers. Presentations to band and conductor Howard Denike were made by Victoria and Saanich council representatives and Saanich MLA John Tisdalle. Arnold Webb, Chamber managing-secretary, was master of ceremonies.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

"We think our navy is pretty good," confided a U.S. Navy lieutenant yesterday morning, "but man, your boys sure are smart!"

This comment came as the Royal Canadian Navy brought up the rear of an impressive, 1,100-man parade of sailors from three navies through the Victoria downtown area yesterday.

Some 5,000 to 6,000 people stretched along Government Street alone saw the marching men from the Royal Navy cruiser HMS Newcastle, U.S. Navy ships, U.S. Marines and Royal Marines as well as the men from the RCN's Pacific Command.

TOOK SALUTE

Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross took the salute outside the Empress Hotel.

With him on the reviewing stand were Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, RCN, flag officer Pacific Coast, Rear Admiral R. S. Clarke, USN, commander of the Carrier Division Five, based at San Diego, and Capt. A. H. C. Gordon Lennox, RN, captain of the Newcastle.

Led by the colorful band of the Royal Marines from HMS Newcastle, the parade left Beacon Hill Park and proceeded down past the Empress.

SNAPPY MARCHING

Next came Newcastle's sailors and Royal Marines, snappily marching along to the cheers of the spectators. Officers from the USN followed close behind and then the crack U.S. Marine Corps band.

Thousands See Marching Tars

Parade of British, United States and Canadian naval units from Beacon Hill to Royal Athletic Park through downtown streets yesterday drew thousands of people. Marching sailors from three navies plus U.S. and Royal Marines and HMCS cadets were backed by the Royal Marine, U.S. Marine Corps and HMCS Ontario bands. A total of 1,100 took part in the Navy Week spectacle.

Blood Test Impossible

Impairment Blamed In Chemainus Death

NANAIMO (CP) — A [illegible]-year-old Chemainus man came to sudden death [illegible] sort of impairment, according to a six-man coroners' jury here.

But they didn't know what impaired his driving.

Inquest into the death of [illegible] Columbus, whose [illegible] coupe was sliced open from headlight to rear foot when it collided head-on with a southbound [illegible], revealed the alcohol blood test could not be administered on the deceased owing to mixture of the victim's blood with embalming fluid.

Columbus' body was cut from his car's shattered wreckage in a city lot after the collision which sent 14 persons to Nanaimo General Hospital suffering from shock and lacerations.

Columbus received a number of very severe injuries in the [illegible]. His skull was badly fractured, heart ruptured and body covered with lacerations.

Three drivers said they spotted Columbus driving at more than 50 miles an hour north from Ladysmith. They said he was driving a weaving path.

Prehistoric But Alive

LONDON (Reuters)—Prehistoric men may still be living in remote mountain and desert regions of Asia, the Soviet news agency Tass reported yesterday.

Shambling "apemen," covered with sparse, reddish black hair, round shoulders, bent knees, powerful jaws and low foreheads have been reported in central Mongolia, says Russian scientist B. Porshnev.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (Reuters) — The special United Nations committee on Hungary has received information that 165 people already tried once for [illegible] are to be tried again, [illegible] committee chairman, said today.

"One of the people involved," Andersen said, "is Gyula Obersovszky, editor of two periodicals.

"He was tried in April 1957 and sentenced to death. Later it was announced that the sentence had been [illegible] imprisonment but we now understood that the sentence is to be revised again with the chief prosecutor again asking for the death sentence.

"My committee has authorized me to give out this information in the hope that by giving this news to the world press it may perhaps be possible to influence events and perhaps prevent new death sentences of people in Hungary."

Winds Wreck Historic Tree

COUNCIL GROVE, Kan. (UPI) — The famed [illegible]-year-old Council Oak, which gave birth to the Santa Fe Trail, was destroyed early yesterday by high winds.

On Aug. 10, 1825, under the Council Oak a treaty was signed by representatives of the Osage Indian Nation and U.S. commissioners giving right of way for passage through Osage territory, and the tree became the starting point of the Santa Fe Trail westward.

Cries of Bad Business 'Too Shrill' Says Blaney

* * *

C. E. BLANEY
. . . 20 per cent more

Agent for CPR Rival Reviews Strike Period

Anguished cries about the CPR ferry strike hurting Victoria's tourist business include a lot of just plain shouting, a spokesman for the rival, and operating, Washington State Ferries said yesterday.

C. E. Blaney, Victoria agent for the ferry operation, took issue with a Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau statement Thursday that there was a slight drop of 285 cars from last year in the number handled at Victoria and Sidney.

He said "correct figures as per ticket count" gained from the Seattle general manager's office showed that in June 1957 the CPR between Victoria and Port Angeles carried 1816 cars. Washington State carried 2,468 on that run and 1171 between Sidney and Anacortes for a total for the two companies at the two ports of 10,479, he said.

For last June, the CPR carried none and Washington State carried 7,341 between Sidney and Anacortes and 5,103 between Victoria and Port Angeles, for a total of 12,444, an increase of 1,965 for the two ports, he said.

"We were able to handle 20 per cent more than what was handled by the two companies in 1957," Mr. Blaney said.

Total number of automobiles handled at Victoria and Sidney, on a comparative basis, would have to include the CPR's Vancouver - Victoria - Seattle "triangle" service on which Washington State is not a competitor.

Sun Stays To Greet Margaret

The weatherman, studying the skies from which Princess Margaret's plane will glide this morning, breathed easier last night.

There'll be no rain today, although there may be a few cloudy periods between long hours of sunshine, he predicted.

For Sunday here, however, the forecast is increasing cloudiness late in the day and a few showers in the evening.

City-Saanich

Deutsch To Probe Link-Up

One of Canada's most eminent authorities on government finance, Dr. J. J. Deutsch of Vancouver, was engaged yesterday to find the facts and implications of Victoria-Saanich unification.

Dr. Deutsch is head of the department of economics and political science at the University of B.C., chairman of the Manitoba royal commission on distribution of natural gas in Greater Winnipeg and a member of the royal commission on Newfoundland finances.

SIMPLE TERMS

A Victoria-Saanich committee engaging him to make a study and report by early October gave him simple terms of reference: to inquire into and report upon the advisability or otherwise of integrating all or part of Saanich and Victoria, analyzing the physical and financial implications.

"I'm going to let the facts fall where they may," Dr. Deutsch told the committee. "I have a completely open mind."

PROS AND CONS

Aim of the committee is to have the pros and cons of amalgamation in factual form in the fall with a view to holding referendums in Saanich and Victoria in December.

Victoria Cadet Wins Outstanding Award

A Victoria boy training as a university naval training division cadet with the RCN on the Atlantic Coast has won the most outstanding first-year cadet award.

Rear Admiral H. F. Pullen, flag officer Atlantic coast, presented the award to Cadet J. S. Elliott at a Halifax ceremony yesterday. The boy was one of three from among 350 cadets to receive awards.

Learning to Put Their 'Hips' Into It

It's taken Royal Canadian Navy know-how to teach the officers and men of the aircraft carrier USS Bennington how to shout hip-hip-hooray. Cmdr. George Gray (foreground) of HMCS Ontario was sent to San Diego to join the carrier so that U.S. sailors could learn the proper drill in giving three cheers when Princess Margaret inspects naval review. "We weren't too well up on it," admitted a U.S. officer. "It's not a thing we do in this [illegible] navy'."—(Official U.S. photo)

F. VINCENT RUSH
. . . five years overseas

F. Vincent Rush, 1221 Old Esquimalt Road, former member of the Port Alberni council, will be a candidate for Esquimalt council to fill the seat left vacant by the death of Coun. J. E. Carey.

The byelection will take place July 31, and nomination day is July 21.

CHIEF DISPATCHER

Native of Lyleton, Man., Mr. Rush is at present acting chief dispatcher with the E & N railway. A railwayman all his life, his father was station agent for the CPR at many Manitoba points and a brother is doing the same work.

After five years overseas in the Second World War with the Fifth Armoured Division in England, Italy and Western Europe, Mr. Rush came back to the railway and was stationed at Port Alberni.

While living there he was member of council in 1946 and 1947, and served as president of the ratepayers' association.

From 1948 to 1954, when he came to Victoria, Mr. Rush was station agent at Lake Cowichan.

Beach Sanding Set for Sunday

Final sanding of the three beaches in Esquimalt's Gorge Park will take place Sunday and trucks still are required, Esquimalt municipal engineer John Graeme said yesterday.

Sand has been donated by Saanich municipality and various companies have volunteered the use of 15 trucks. Others are needed and should be at the Saanich pit, Cordova Bay Road, after 8 a.m. Sunday.

Mr. Graeme also reported the Esquimalt public works department now is building a 120-foot long log bridge in the park, connecting [illegible] Place with Craigflower Road.

Sewer Bylaw To Be 'Sold'

NANAIMO—City council has arranged for a battery of speakers to go out and "sell" the $2,450,000 sewer construction bylaw which will be put to the ratepayers on July 24.

The bylaw is one of the biggest brought down by a Nanaimo city council.

Mayor Pete Maffeo wants all ratepayers to know exactly what they are voting on.

Finance committee chairman Ald. Haig Burns felt that the cost of a new sewer system would mean a raise in taxes of about $20 a year to most property owners.

Chest Needs Helpers

Some 3,000 voluntary canvassers will be needed by the Greater Victoria Community Chest this year to collect donations in a house-to-house blitz.

Alan B. MacFarlane, co-chairman of the residential [illegible] of the appeal, said last night canvassers were needed urgently, particularly for the outlying districts.

"If we can get enough canvassers each person will only have to put in two or three hours on the job," he pointed out. "We need them early so they can be given full details about the appeal."

Volunteer canvassers can telephone Mr. MacFarlane at [illegible] or his co-chairman, Mrs. [illegible] Morgan, at 7-3211.

Negro Minister at St. Aidan's

Thinker's Mind in Athlete's Frame

By COURTNEY TOWER

Soft voice and courteous ways only barely conceal a burning desire to win in Rev. Nelson B. Higgins, racial intolerance giant-killer and first Negro to take over a Victoria church.

For that matter, the man with the athlete's frame and the thinker's mind makes no bones about his ambitions.

"I would rather fail at something big than be a mediocre success," he said yesterday.

And that is the essence of how he and his wife came to be settling in to the St. Aidan's United Church manse, their home for a month.

Mr. Higgins, 40, of Normandie Methodist Church, Los Angeles, has exchanged churches for the next four Sundays with the Rev. A. I. Avery of St. Aidan's.

Mr. Avery was one of 600 persons from all over the world who last year wrote to congratulate Mr. Higgins on a great venture and to offer encouragement. A friendship by mail developed, resulting in this year's exchange.

The Christian drama started with some unChristlike parishioners (although Mr. Higgins won't say that) of Normandie Methodist Church.

With less than 50 members of this dwindling church in an area of 20,000, this clique wouldn't permit any of the Negroes of the area, or most of the whites for that matter, to join.

Mr. Higgins was installed as pastor and the stuffy clique pulled out completely and clarioned protests to press and public. "It was the best thing that could have happened.

* * *

. . . principles at stake

"On that first Sunday we had 1,000 well-wishers of all races and denominations and 1,400 more had to be turned away," he recalled.

"Now we have settled down to 151 on the roll, from zero, since all the originals had quit, with a white membership of about 35 per cent."

He received 800 letters and in six weeks 5,000 telephone calls of encouragement, praise and support.

"Two great principles were at stake: Christianity and democracy, and the people who came came to support them."

In [illegible] year in the Los Angeles area seven other Methodist churches, one Presbyterian and one Baptist have followed the Normandie Church's lead in integration. Mr. Higgins said he considers this Victoria adventure an extension of his fight to spread Christian tolerance.

The Methodist church sponsored him on a seven-state speaking tour last February and his winning fight has received international prominence.

For 17 years a preacher, Rev. Higgins, from North Carolina, has preached and taught school in several cities and states. A star athlete at Xavier University, he has starred in football, basketball, track, boxing and wrestling.

Title of his first sermon here Sunday at 11 a.m. is [illegible].

While here, he will be ready to speak before any group, organization or church interested in both or the activities of St. Aidan's Church.

"But first I'll be one of those lining Douglas Street in the morning to see the lovely princess," he said.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

TV coverage of the Royal visit starts with the arrival of Princess Margaret at Patricia Bay airport and her drive to the Empress Hotel this morning. Telecast on channels 2, 6 and 12 is at 9.15 a.m., with radio reports on all B.C. stations.

There are other highlights today, including final events at the Calgary Stampede, a Seattle symphony orchestra playing music of Handel, Haydn, Kodaly and Gershwin ("Porgy and Bess"), U.S.-Canada Davis Cup tennis, the Gold Cup horse race and the TV debut of the great Irish movie "The Quiet Man." Details below.

* * *

Television may bring radical changes to classroom teaching, says Dr. R. E. Marshall, superintendent of Halifax schools.

His statement followed a recent test series in Halifax schools of three-a-week TV classes in mathematics, science and geography for grades four, six and eight. The series was backed by Halifax, the Nova Scotia government and CBC. Dr. Marshall says TV should be a supplement to present teaching, especially in crowded city schools and all rural schools. He added good qualified teachers will always be needed because "personal contact is vital."

"It's a new kind of Russian roulette . . . flip the dial and stick with the one channel all evening."

* * *

TV BITS: The British Empire light heavyweight title fight between New Brunswick's Yvon Durelle and South Africa's Mike Holt will be telecast by channels [illegible], 5 and 6 at 7 p.m. Wednesday . . . A [illegible] for Tuesday . . . first episode on the Playhouse [illegible] series on CBC was surprisingly poor . . . After looking at seven pilot shows, ABC has dropped the proposed Orson Welles series . . . Voice of Firestone will feature [illegible] next season in an effort to get ratings . . . Jackie Gleason, a fat man, may hire fat Jonathan Winters as well as fat Buddy Hackett as his stooges next year . . . Walter Pidgeon is sought for the TV series Father of the Bride, due September, 1959.

The Gold-Plated Recession

Of the past year started out with dire predictions by some prophets of gloom but on looking around things haven't turned out so bad. Wages, prices of goods and real estate hasn't turned down. In fact if you took time to compare notes closely you will find land prices and selling prices of homes are both higher. Doesn't this [illegible] reason enough to [illegible] real estate as an opportunity to maintain your equity in a rising market. Oddly enough, the price of lumber, plywood and many other building materials are priced lower than a year ago. While we cannot see reason for this situation we would point out the opportune time to build or remodel. There are many good homes today where value can be increased with additions, extensions and renovations—there's many a room's attic can be made useful with a dormer window. Remember, for every $100 spent on home improvements you add $300 to your resale price.

Building Materials

Sure, save 40% of your completed cost and for home improvements you can buy on monthly budget terms, 3 years to pay.

Hard to Sleep

Upstairs these warm nights, wondering when the temperature will drop. Well you can do something about it in 90% of present homes. There's insulation for every purpose, blanket, rolls or pouring type.

AFTER YOU, HORSE!

Carts ought to come AFTER horses. We all know that — But some people forget it! They want a serviceable car, yet they charge around from lot to lot, looking only at price tags. They learn nothing about the dealer until after the sale. Sometimes they're sorry. Why not put first things first? Find out about your dealer—his reputation, how long he's been at it, whether he's a "quick-sale artist" or a man who is anxious to satisfy you. Better still —find out about us here at

Today's Quotation: "Wise sayings often fall on barren ground; but a kind word is never thrown away."
Arthur Helps

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini): Get personal matters in hand; adopt a decisive but unemotional outlook on issues.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer): Avoid individual or group involvements; use finesse. Wrap your program and aspirations in some secrecy.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo): Hold to a policy of discretion with new acquaintances lest you find yourself with a flattened bankroll.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra): Don't pursue the will-of-the-wisp; be practical. Push tasks, duties.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio): Lend an ear to what people say early today; they could vitally affect your affairs and finances.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius): Keep your perspective by staying in a straight course today. Be cautious, try to effect unity.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn): Restore vitality and bodily vigor. Side-step troubles of others.

Loan Turned Down

Councils Veto School Plan

SAANICHTON—Two municipal councils have refused to endorse Saanich School District 63's plan to borrow $21,512 in protest against the provincial government's recent changes in the Schools Act.

The loan was to have been used to build two portable classrooms, a new office building and provide teaching materials for the next term.

"I don't blame you a bit for what you have done," school board chairman J. D. Phelps told Central Saanich council after it had rejected the request.

Reeve H. R. Brown said:

"We are not opposing the need for the money, but we want to register a protest against the way in which the government is putting more and more of the onus on municipalities."

A. G. Blair, secretary of the board, explained that such expenditures were included in the school board budget, but that changes in the school act now required approval by the municipal bodies before the board could issue debentures.

Sidney council tabled the matter until school board representatives were able to attend and give more information.

"They simply require us to set a rubber stamp on it," said Commissioner J. E. Bosher. "It seems rather odd that they should need it."

No Taxation Ruling

Scurrah Welcomes 'End of Headache'

A ruling that Saanich cannot tax city property at Beaver and Elk Lakes was welcomed by Mayor Percy Scurrah Thursday as "the end of this headache" that had been dragging on since 1955.

In 1955, Saanich sold 82 acres of the city-owned land because the city had not paid local improvement taxes on it.

The city, claiming tax exemption under the Victoria Waterworks Act of 1873, decided to fight this action legally but redeemed the property while it still had the opportunity by paying the $1,000 tax bill.

Technicalities resulted in the dispute extending over nearly three years before it was taken to B.C. Supreme Court in May for trial. Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane ruled Wednesday that the watershed lands were still exempt from taxation by Saanich.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane said it was not beyond the bounds of possibility that with the growth of the urban area, the water supply of the lakes might yet be found necessary.
